ECRs EVENT 2

PUBLISHING YOUR FIRST BOOK ON GENDER STUDIES

JAN 20, 3-4:30PM CET

If you want to publish your first book on gender studies series, but worried about where to start, what to do, how to manage the process, as many ECRs do, come join to this event! Whether you are still working on your PhD thesis or already completed it, this event will be helpful for providing a general information on publishing your first book on gender studies series. We will welcome two Professors in Gender Studies, Eléonore Lépinard and Mia Liinason, who will share their publishing experience with us. The Q&A session will also be an opportunity to ask them your question about the book publishing process.

Eléonore Lépinard is Professor in Sociology and Gender Studies at the University of Lausanne, Switzerland. Her current work focuses on intersectionality and whiteness in feminist movements from a comparative perspective, and on feminist theory. She has also worked on parity politics and gender quotas. She has published several books on these subjects, as well as numerous articles in leading journals. More recently, she has published the great book Feminist Trouble. Intersectional Politics in Post-Secular Times, at Oxford University Press (2020), and co-edited the book Confronting Privileges in Feminist and Queer Movements (with Evans Elizabeth), at Routledge (2020).

Mia Liinason is Professor in Gender Studies at the University of Gothenburg, Sweden. Her research focuses on practices of power and resistance within feminist movements, academic feminism, and feminist and anti-racist grassroots engagement, focusing on several contexts. She has published her impressive book Equality Struggles: Women's Movements, Neoliberal Markets and State Political Agendas in Scandinavia at Routledge (2018) in addition to many articles on wide range of topics.
