

Nordic seminar and webinar on Infection Control, Gothenburg at September 27-29, 2022 –Second announcement

The aim of the seminar is to support Nordic cooperation in research on infection control. The seminar is by support from the Nordic Council of Ministers free to attend for the participants. Only individual costs for travel and accommodation need to be covered.

To secure to be present at the seminar in Gothenburg, please register before August 21. The program September 27 and September 29 will also be available as webinar.

Dockyard Hotel at Campus Nya Varvet has reserved 25 rooms to August 21 for stay between September 27-29 for 1165 SEK per night including breakfast, booking with ref. “Nordic infection control network” at T: +46 (0) 31- 857020: E-mal : info@dockyardhotel.se:
website : www.dockyardhotel.se

Preliminary program:

September 27 at Hall Arvid Carlsson, Academicum. Medicinare street 3, Gothenburg on site and as webinar. In the hall 150 seats

9.00 Welcome

9.05 Hospital Infection Control in covid- 19- Anders Johansson, Umeå University

10.00 Questions and discussion

10.20 Coffee/tea break

10.45 Update on Covid-19 vaccines- Sören Andersson, The Public Health Agency of Sweden

11.30 Questions and discussion

12.00 Lunch

13.00-16.00 Seminar on the Nordic experiences on how well the toolbox for infection control has worked in the actual covid-19 pandemic with focus on the need of research.

13.00 Welcome

13.05- 14.30 Presentations by the panelists:

Tyra Grove Krause – Statens Serum Institute, Denmark

Anders Tegnell- The Public Health Agency of Sweden

Frode Forland- Norwegian Institute of Public Health

Mika Salminen- Finnish Institute of Health and Welfare

14.30- 15.00 Coffee/tea break

15.00- 15.45 Questions and discussion

15.45- 16.00 Recommendations on future research from the panellists

September 28 at Hall Styrhytten, Campus Nya Varvet, Gothenburg

Seminar for 35-40 persons.

Presentations on research in infection control on 15-30 minutes for each project with 15-30 minutes of discussion. Report projects you want to present with title as early as possible and at latest August 21 to rune.andersson@gu.se

September 29 at Hall Havsörnen, Campus Nya Varvet, Gothenburg

Lectures and seminar for up to 80 persons. Partly available as webinar. Details will be announced later in April or May. You are welcome to send suggestions on topics of importance for research on infection control you want us to cover.

9.00 Welcome

9.05 -9.50 Anthropological perspectives on risk, transmission of pathogens and zoonoses – Senior lecturer Johan Wedel, School of Global Studies, Gothenburg University

9.50- 10.30 Questions, discussion

10.30-11.00 Coffee/tea break

11.00- 11.45 What a researcher in social science can contribute with in infection control- Associate Professor Lena Andersson, Department of Social Work, Gothenburg University

11.45- 12.30 Questions, discussion

12.30-13.30 Lunch

13.30-14.15 What a researcher in health economics can contribute with in infection control- Senior lecturer Annika Lindskog, Department of Economics, Gothenburg University

14.15-15.00 Questions, Discussion

15.00- 15.30 Coffee/tea break

15.30- 16.15 What can analysis of virus in waste water contribute with in infection control? Prof. Helene Norder, Department of Clinical Microbiology, Gothenburg University

16.15-17.00 Questions, Discussion

Welcome!

For more information and suggestions contact:

Rune Andersson, senior professor in infectious diseases at Gothenburg University

E-mail: rune.andersson@gu.se