Accepted oral presentations

Dependent-marked anticausatives in Old Norse-Icelandic	Jóhanna Barðdal
What are you sitting and saying? Aspect and facilitation mismatch in subjective posture-verb pseudocoordination in Swedish	Kristian Blensenius & Peter Andersson Lilja
Testing 'constructionhood' and the cognitive realism of mid-level abstractions in English possessive constructions	Alice Blumenthal-Dramé, Lotte Sommerer
Construction Grammar or constructionist approaches?	Hans C. Boas, Jaakko Leino & Benjamin Lyngfelt
Using UD Treebanks to Annotate Constructions Across Languages	Nina Böbel, Archna Bhatia, William Croft, Nurit Melnik, Leonie Weissweiler
Licit and illicit genre constructions: insights from persuasive genres	Lucia Busso, Sarah Atkins, Leigh Harrington, Tim Grant
Metaphor meets typology: variable ways of moving metaphorically in Chinese	Shujun Chen, Changqing Zheng, Zaijiang Wei
Language as a dynamic network: From recurrent multiword units to constructional schemas	Alvin Cheng, Hsien Chen
Locating a constructional account of English adjectival comparatives between incremental and realisational accounts: The case of y-adjective comparatives	Deborah Chua
Quantification in existential and possessive predication in Siberian languages – constructionist approach	Chris Lasse Däbritz
A usage-based perspective on bilingual speech: Pragmatic partially schematic constructions in code-switching	Valentina Del Vecchio
Constructional contamination blocking full-fledged alternation? (The lack of) word order variation in Dutch verb clusters with resultative krijgen 'to get'	Gauthier Delaby, Timothy Colleman
The semantics of complex words with locative prefixoids through the lens of syntactic paraphrases	Kim-Kristin Droste
Attraction or Differentiation: Diachronic Changes in the Causative Alternation of Chinese Change of State Verbs	Jing Du, Shan Zuo, Fuyin Li
Olevinaan – constructions of inauthenticity in Finnish	Daniel Ebner

From hardcore to corecore. The semantics of an internet phenomenon	Eli Anne Eiesland, Guro Fløgstad,
A constructionist approach to regulatory signs in public spaces	Charlotte Eisenrauch
Wehe 'woe' + verb-second in German. A conventional threat construction?	Rita Finkbeiner
Phonetic chunks: a challenge for constructional representations	Mirjam Fried & Pavel Machańć
From syntax to phraseology: a phraseological approach to schematic caused-motion constructions in English	Rodrigo Garcia Rosa
Exploring (Multimodal) Constructions on the Rise: Insights from Modern Greek	Vassiliki Geka, Anna Piata
Meaning making through constructions: The role of figurative language in licensing coercion in predicate nominal constructions in English	Francisco Gonzálvez-García
Contact Specification Construction in English and German	Mechthild Habermann, Veronika Stampfer, Thomas Herbst
How to understand (and imitate) your linguistic neighbour with the help of submorphemic constructions	Anna Hagel
Noun phrases in aphasia: A constructionist, usage-based examination	Rachel Hatchard & Elena Lieven
The evaluative binominal construction in English, Dutch, French and Italian. A cross-linguistic corpus study	Isa Hendrikx, Valentina Piunno, Kristel Van Goethem
The 5C Model of Constructional Creativity	Thomas Hoffmann
English as a basis for contrastive constructional studies: A case study	Jakob Horsch
Rethinking the Principle of No Synonymy from the perspective of intra-speaker variation	Hikaru Hotta
Pattern upon pattern: a token-based model of constructional networks	Lara Höttecke
A corpus study of Mandarin Chinese impolite constructions: The case of ni zhe(ge)/ge shazi! 'you idiot!'	Yue Hu, Daniel Van Olmen
A system-network approach to verb argument constructions in English	Susan Hunston
The Interesting Case of the Multimodal Construction [Had It Up To Here (With)]	Yassine Iabdounane
When formal semanticists acknowledge non-compositionality and constructionists find motivation: The case of the EXO NA 'have to' constructions in Modern Greek	Dimitra Ioannou, Kiki Nikiforidou

Pragmatic Markers and their Sub-Constructions: The Case of the English Still	Erina Iwai
A result of language contact? Constructional change in Middle Norwegian possessive expressions	Julia Jaworska
Taking a Look at V (NP) a Look Constructions: A Frame-Constructional Analysis	Tetsuya Kogusuri
A Constructivist Approach to Wenn-Memes in German	Robert Külpmann
Multimodal-constructionhood: Uniformity of motivation as a criterion for identifying multimodal constructions	Daiya Kuryu
Discourse resumption as a multimodal or amodal construction?	Schuyler Laparle
Fluency of Czech prepositional phrases in aphasic discourse	Michal Láznińćka
Modelling the Principle of No Equivalence	Benoît Leclercq, Cameron Morin & Dirk Pijpops
Two-Dimensional Elaboration by Adverbial Verbal Classifier Constructions	Jiehai Liu, Liyong Wang
Differentiating analytic causative constructions in Mandarin: A quantitative analysis	Na Liu
Evidence for constructional merger: the NomDat argument structure construction in Ancient Greek	Silvia Luraghi
Family ties: how closely related are families of constructions with the same anchor? A case study of Russian pronouns	Anastasia Makarova, Svetlana Sokolova
Towards an Italian Constructicon	Francesca Masini, Beatrice Bernasconi, Claudia Borghetti, Lucia Busso, Maria Pina De Rosa, Claudio Iacobini, M. Silvia Micheli, Ludovica Pannitto, Flavio Pisciotta, Fabio Tamburini
Rethinking the semantic headedness of English exocentric compound constructions with token-based semantic vector space modeling	Qingnan Meng, Martin Hilpert, Weihua Luo
Are modals meaningful at the highest level of schematicity? A stacked collostructional analysis of vil and skal in Contemporary Norwegian	Olaf Mikkelsen
Agreement in Early Modern English existential constructions	Pierre-Yves Modicom
When Construction Grammar meets field data: towards a network of modal constructions in Hill Mari	Daria Mordashova

Construction grammar meets information structure: a case of object indexing in Northern Khanty	Nikita Muravyev
A constructional family of negative epistemic expressions	Ozan Mustafa
50 shades of kicking and cooking: the Cause-Directed-Motion Construction and troposemy	Bracha Nir & Nurit Melnik
On belfies and carfies: blending, libfixing and emergent morphological schemas	Muriel Norde
What are interactional frames doing inside constructions?	Kyoko Ohara
Constructional change of English regardless (of): From a complex preposition to a free-standing discourse marker	Toshio Ohori
How strong do you like your coffee?: A frames approach to denominal verb formation	Yuki Okada
Radiality in the Brazilian Portuguese constructions with "logo": a cognitivist approach	Malvina Maria de Oliveira, Sandra Aparecida Faria de Almeida
Identifying semantic sub-constructions of the V-ing pattern	Malin Patel
"More pragmatics into constructional thinking": The emergence of Brazilian Portuguese "see if" constructions	Diogo Pinheiro
Concessive conditionality meets epistemic modality: Conditional possibility expressions with epistemic mag	Katja Politt
Constructing Time in an additional language. Effects on entrenchment of time constructions in adult learners of Swedish	Julia Prentice, Gerlof Bouma and Joel Olofsson
A Dynamic Network Approach to bilingual child data	Antje Quick, Stefan Hartmann, Nikolas Koch, and Paul Ibbotson
'Fuck' constructions in English, Afrikaans, and Dutch	Monique Rabé & Gerhard van Huyssteen
A Diachronic Account of the German Complex Conjunction obschon	Michael Redmond
Is it all in my head? Cognitive Nominalizations in German Complex Prepositions	Regina Ruf
Identifying constructicon entries in query text	Bálint Sass
A modal-temporal construction network of future reference in German	Lena Schnee

The WHX Construction(s) in German: A Construction family?	Steven Schoonjans
Everything-cleft constructions in spoken British English	Eleni Seitanidi, Nele Põldvere, Carita Paradis
Impersonal passive constructions in the history of Swedish	Dominika Skrzypek, Elisabet Engdahl
A study on the Brazilian Portuguese Bem Que 'well that' construction: conversational and discourse pragmatics	Clara Sousa
The Potential of Epistemic Constructions for Predication Analysis	Oliver Spiess
The Development of the Evaluative-Attribution-Construction in Modern English	Veronika Stampfer
Salience in grammar, salience in interaction? A usage-based analysis of a verb-third construction in spoken Swedish	Viktoria Strandberg
Prepositional Constructions in the German FrameNet-Constructicon	Vilma Symanczyk Joppe, Nina Böbel
Norwegian Pancake construction revisited: A corpus-based research	Mizuki Tanigawa
Building and Testing a Constructicon for Chinese Middle School English Learners	Zhen Tian, Jinming Yu
The crystallization of language over time	Robbert De Troij & Freek Van de Velde
Horizontal links and schematic nodes as the result of entrenched filler-slot relations	Fredrik Valdeson
Measuring levels of "extravagance" within and across constructions	Anouk Van den Stock, Anne-Sophie Ghyselen, Timothy Colleman
Extravagant libfixation: How we went from panorama to Bagorama and Pumporama	Urd Vindenes and Torodd Kinn
A Multimodal Constructional Investigation of Complex Motion Event Segmentation and Restructuring among Chinese Intermediate and Advanced EFL Learners	Di Wang
Tibetan Verbal Phrases as Morphological Constructions: A Discussion on Their Characteristics and Constructionalization	Minghua Wang, Shuangcheng Wang

Diaconstructions and idioconstructions in the history of Swedish periphrastic passive	Marta Woźnicka, Dominika Skrzypek
Exploring Interchangeable Two-Plus-Two Constructions in Mandarin: A Corpus Approach to Chinese Four-Character Idioms	Haoran Yang
Argument disambiguation strategies between morphology and syntax: Challenging construction grammar	Eva Zehentner
Grammatical constructionalization or constructional grammaticalization? Two isolated case studies.	Debra Ziegeler
Morphological Iconicity and Productivity in Idiomatic Constructions	Bin Zhang
To What Extent do the Frequency and Contingency of Multiword Constructions in the First Language Corpus predict the Second Language Corpus	Yanlu Zhong

Accepted poster presentations

Coordinate demonstrative constructions with non-deictic interpretations. Evidence of the principle of no synonymy	Éva Dömötör
Periphrastic verbal constructions as an individual construction type: A view from Romance	Birgit Füreder
Complex comparative correlative constructions across time and registers: A corpus study on early modern German	Stefan Hartmann
The alternating predicate construction and the subject status of its arguments in Romanian	Mihaela Ilioaia
A constructionist view meeting an interactional in the analysis of multilingual language use	Sivi Järvinen
I see what you are trying to do. Siehst du, der kann schon Englisch. Investigating metaphor use in German-English bilingual children	Nina Julich-Warpakowski, Antje Quick
A pedagogically oriented constructicographic representation of the Estonian argument structure constructions containing infinitival arguments	Jelena Kallas, Heete Sahkai, Geda Paulsen, Ene Vainik, Raili Pool, Kertu Saul
How does something normal become new?: A usage-based analysis of an English nominal new normal in relation to the COVID-19 pandemic	Ji-in Kang
Using language models for linguistic analysis: The similarities between the usage-based model and language models	Naoki Otani, Ryo Nagata, Hiroya Takamura and Yoshifumi Kawasaki
Swedish quotative constructions with ba and their status from the perspective of Interactional Construction Grammar	Michał Piosik
Verb and case-marking contribute asymmetrically to children's sentence comprehension: Evidence from Korean active transitive construction	Gyu-Ho Shin
A corpus-based analysis of complex words with proper names and -dom in American English: A constructionist representation of polysemy	Tijana Šuković