

INTERNATIONAL CENTRE

Requirements for the Axel Adler Scholarship 2027

The University of Gothenburg offers the Axel Adler Scholarship 2027. To be eligible to apply for the Axel Adler Scholarship, you must meet the following requirements:

- You must be required to pay tuition fees in Sweden. You do not need to have paid the tuition fee before applying for the scholarship.
- You must apply for an international campus-based program at the University of Gothenburg and rank it as your first priority by 15 January 2027 in the international admission round at www.universityadmission.se.
- If you apply for several programs at the University of Gothenburg, you are only eligible for a scholarship for the program you have ranked as your first priority,
- You must submit your application for studies by 15 January 2027
- You must pay the application fee and document your eligibility for studies through universityadmissions.se by 1 February 2027.
- Eligible students will receive an email with an invitation to apply for the scholarship. You must submit your scholarship application between 10 February and 8 March 2027.

To be awarded the Axel Adler Scholarship 2027

To be awarded the scholarship, you must be admitted to:

- a full-time Master's program at the University of Gothenburg; or
- one of the following full-time Bachelor's programs at the University of Gothenburg:
 - Software Engineering
 - International Relations
 - Business and Economics
 - Computer Science and AI
 - BFA Program in Metal Art
 - BFA Program in Wood Oriented Furniture Design
 - BFA Program in Craft with Specialisation in Crafting Futures

Conditions for the Axel Adler Scholarship 2027

- The Axel Adler Scholarship covers the tuition fee for the whole program to which you have been admitted. This means four semesters (120 credits) for master's programs, except for 1-year master's programs, such as Archaeological Sciences which comprise two semesters (60 credits), and six semesters (180 credits) for Bachelor's programs.

- The Axel Adler Scholarship does not cover living or accommodation expenses.
- As a scholarship holder, you are covered by FAS+, an insurance provided by the Swedish Legal, Financial and Administrative Service Agency (Kammarkollegiet). You will find the terms and conditions for the FAS+ insurance on the website of Kammarkollegiet.
- If you are awarded the scholarship, you must apply for a residence permit for studies from the Swedish Migration Agency as soon as possible. One of the requirements to receive a residence permit for studies is that you have the financial means to support yourself. You can find more information on Residence permit for studies in higher education.
- To keep your scholarship, you must complete at least 75% of the credits for each semester. Your academic progress will be reviewed regularly.
- To keep your scholarship, you must receive a residence permit for studies from the Swedish Migration Agency in time to start your program. If you do not receive your residence permit on time, the scholarship will be withdrawn.
- Not receiving a residence permit on time is not a valid reason for deferment. You can find more information on Deferring your studies
- The scholarship will be withdrawn if you do not start your program on time or do not continue your studies at the University of Gothenburg in accordance with the rules and regulations for studies at the University of Gothenburg. For more information, see Study Environment and Rules – Student Portal \(gu.se\)
- If you are suspended from your studies, your scholarship may be withdrawn.